

Research Assistant Internship Opportunities at HPRN:

HPRN is an independent, nonprofit organization that evaluates healthcare needs, analyzes health policies, and conducts research on ways to improve the outcomes and financial value of healthcare services. HPRN is comprised of a multidisciplinary team dedicated to conducting research on key issues in health policy and healthcare delivery.

HPRN Interns participate in the execution of diverse research projects in the areas of healthcare policy, health services, public health and epidemiology. These positions are open to students currently enrolled in a Bachelor's or Master's degree program in a health, policy or statistics-related field. Areas of HPRN research include evaluation of care for the uninsured, obesity prevention, emergency department utilization, medical malpractice support, antipsychotic medication use, gaps in home visiting services, analysis of infant mortality and perinatal mood disorders.

This is initially an unpaid position, however, course credit may be available and opportunities for subsequent paid work exist. In addition, it may be possible to overlap or converge graduate thesis research with project work. The internship is based in Eugene but may involve travel to Portland and elsewhere in Oregon. The work schedule can be flexed according to the intern's needs, however, a regular work schedule must be established and involve a minimum commitment of 5 hours per week. See www.hprnw.org for further information.
